CREATE A VISION OF CHANGE IN HEALTH CARE

This program provides physicians from around the world with focused training in management and leadership, ensuring you are prepared to lead effectively, improve organizational performance, and bring about change in your organization.

As a participant, you will engage with physician leaders from diverse international health care organizations who face similar challenges. This experience fosters an open exchange of ideas and unique insights into how to be an effective physician leader.

With the guidance of expert faculty and fellow participants, you will enhance the leadership skills required to innovate, manage teams, improve financial performance, and drive value across your health care organization.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Apply broad strategic knowledge of the health care system in which you work to plan and implement changes in health care delivery at the organizational and unit level

Articulate your highest priorities as a leader in a health care organization

Demonstrate insight into, and appreciation of, the external challenges and changes occurring in health care systems worldwide as well as options for effective responses

Employ concepts and frameworks in key disciplines, including patient safety, quality improvement, innovation, financial management and control, and performance improvement

Apply improvement methods when diagnosing and solving problems

Employ best practices on leading and managing health care organizations

Deploy change management skills

“ The program far exceeded my expectations. I enjoyed that the sessions were very interactive and we had a chance to learn not only from the expert faculty, but also from the participants who were truly international. ”

Swapna Verma, MBBS, MD
Senior Consultant/Chief
Institute of Mental Health, Singapore

PROGRAM DIRECTORS

Cindy Hupke, BSN, MBA is a former Director at the Institute for Healthcare Improvement (IHI) and was a content lead for IHI's Triple Aim for Populations. Her work has focused on leading large, strategic population health initiatives to improve population outcomes at scale, with a particular emphasis on reducing disparities and inequities.

Laurie Samuels Pascal, MBA, MPH is a Lecturer in the Department of Health Policy and Management at the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health. She also consults to health care delivery organizations and universities around the world. Previously, Laurie was the VP of Business Development & Planning and the VP of Radiology at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center.

“ The great strength of this program is its ability to gather physician leaders from all over the world with differences in health care systems, from developed and developing countries, from different cultures and beliefs, put all of them under one roof and got them to learn, listen, discuss, laugh with the lecturers and with each other. ”

Justin Alfred Lan Bello Paber, MD, Chairman
Department of Otorhinolaryngology
Head and Neck Surgery
Zamboanga City Medical Center, The Philippines

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

SITE VISITS

You will visit a high-performing health care delivery organization that serves a diverse population in the Greater Boston area. Through this visit, you will meet with successful innovators to experience how highly effective leadership can improve care, health, and value.

PERSONALIZED CHANGE PROJECTS

You will prepare and refine a project plan that will align with the mission, vision, and priorities of your organization. Faculty will collaborate with you to refine the project goals, measures, and strategies, allowing you to return to your organization with an actionable plan.
